THE FOLLOWING REPORT WAS PREVIOUSLY DISTRIBUTED AS "CIA PRELIMINARY
SO DISSEMINATION NUMBERED OUT

1. On 23 July 1950, approximately 12,000 South Korean students and farmers in the Wonju area (127-56, 37-20) were being trained in the Wonju Primary School, girls' school, and former South Korean regiment headquarters areas. The students were about 18 or 19, and were conscripted in Wonju on about 15 July.
2. On 25 July, about 15 soldiers in North Korean army uniforms were overheard speaking Chinese in Pungyi (128-32, 36-52) and Mungyong (128-06, 36-44) areas.
3. On 18 July 1950, former billets of the South Korean army 936 Unit at Oryudong (Goryudo Station, 126-50, 37-30) were used as a North Korean signal center. Soldiers of the unit stated that all members are Koreans formerly with the Chinese Communists in Manchuria. In the Puchon Prison area, Oryudong, near the 936 Billet, one battalion of North Korean troops were repairing damaged tanks and armored vehicles. There was a total of 20 tanks and vehicles in this area.
4. On 17 July 1950, the former Taehan Youth Group Headquarters near the South Gate in Seoul was used as headquarters of the North Korean army Politburo, which has four Soviet army advisors. The Politburo was organizing guerrilla groups from Communists in the Seoul area and was sending them south.
5. On 15 July 1950, two battalions of North Korean troops from Hwanghae Province, North Korea, mostly farmers aged 17 to 35, arrived at Yonsan RR Station, Seoul. One soldier stated that they are going south to join the North Korean 1 Division composed of Koreans who fought with the Chinese Communists in Manchuria, which had suffered many casualties.
6. On 15 and 16 July 1950, People's Trials occurred in front of the city hall, Seoul. Approximately 160 South Korean police and army personnel and members of right wing youth organizations were tried and all were condemned to death.
